in the evening there will also be an additional attraction of a match tace between Jap Parrish, of Elwood, who has done Steinmetz, of this city. Steinmetz has not Parrish, but this is partly due to the fact that his eyesight is defective and he can-not take advantage of all the openings in a competition race. His defective signt caused one spill in the first meeting at Broad Ripple. In a match race he will be able to show up much better than in competition and an exciting event is expected Steinmetz will also go an exhibition mile to lower the present city record, and Tom David will go a half mile for the same purpose. The entries are: Alex. Craig. Tom David. Carl Cameron. Alex. Craig. Tom David. Carl Cameron, Jac. Steinmetz. Harry DePuty. Mat Pax-ton, Charles Ward. C. O. Gilpin. Oscar Reiger, Harry Eagle. ANDERSON TO TRY AGAIN. The Man Who Rode a Wheel Almost

n Mile n Minute. Next Sunday Anderson, the man who rode a mile behind a passenger train at Oldensburg station, in Illinois, a few weeks ago, in 1:03, will try to make a mile in one minute. He is confident that he can do it. in a minute, it is claimed by Anderson fact that he slowed down before making the mile post. The board track in the mid-dle of the railroad track is still in position and has been made better than at the other attempt. It is not doubted by those who have studied the matter that Anderson can make the distance in a minute, or even less, if the train ahead of him will go

A match race, mile heats, has been made between Jee Patchen, the pacer, and W. W. Hamilton, the cyclist, who holds sevon Sept. 19, for a purse of $2,000. Hamilton will have the pole, and the track, which is a very fast mile course, will be especially prepared for this event. The original in tention was to run this race at Chicago, but owing to trouble in getting Washington Park track and putting it in condition the Rochester course was substituted. Besides the race between the famous pacer and Hamilton, a programme of cycle races

How "30" Originated.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat. I attended a funeral the other day where there was a lovely flower piece with the figures "36" in the center. The deceased had n familiar all his life with that signal, having been connected with the telegraph or newspaper business for nearly thirty years, and yet I doubt if ever he or any one who contributed to the flower piece knew or dreamed how 30 came to mean anything, especially finis or the end. a part in telegraph history, I will explain how this signal, which has come to mean so much, had its origin. Like a great many other expressions, it was started accidentally, as it were. In the infancy of the telegraph business dispatches were sent paid or collect, many of them abbreviated in telegraphing, and all newspaper dispatches were not only abbreviated but sent collect. There were no news agencies then, as now, and papers had friends in all the towns, and papers had friends in an the towns, who were authorized to send them dispatches to be called for. Every beginner in the art of telegraphy was given a book of abbreviations and signals, which he had to commit to memory and practice till he became expert in their use. Among those signals that of "30" was found, and it meant "collect pay at other end." Whether meant "collect pay at other end." Whether a news dispatch or common business message, if not prepaid, the signal, "30" was attached. As all press dispatches were paid for where received, they all had "30" at the end. So when the news agencies began their work the signal was retained for end. So when the news agencies began their work the signal was retained, for they were still paid for where received. This signal has come in these days to be a universal finis to all press dispatches, private, special and general, and a secondary meaning, or perhaps, better, a legendary meaning attaches itself as "the end," and is a proper and beautiful expression of the finis of a telegraph operator or any other person. It may well be a signal to the spiritual dispatch of a human soul to the great center of rewards and as a notice to estimate its value when received and "collect pay at the other end."

WYANDOTTE CAVE

"This way, please. This path leads to the cave on the south side of the hill." The guide who spoke to us was a young man who was to conduct us through the famous Those interested in bicycling in this city - Wyandotte cave that winds off in subterranean passageways beneath a hill which lifts its head four hundred feet above the placid waters of Blue river. Half way down the slope a cool draught of air fans the cheek and you turn aside and enter a relief it is that the guide, in telling of the that dull, grating monotonous tone of the Twilight Hall, Washington avenue, Banmentioned by the guide with their different interesting associations, and you feel from the tone of your informant that he is speaking to you, not telling an "oft told tale" to the rocks that would fall from their fastenings were it possible. I speak of this to relieve myself of a consuming desire to bring deserving wrath upon the heads of those public executioners who gain the confidence of strangers, lure them to some famous object of interest and then inflict upon them a lecture, changeless, meaningless, an enduring agony that forever haunts the recollection. We cannot conceive of the lapse of time contained in the 44,000 years, Why go on piling ages upon ages? Who is brave enough to say that America lacks age? Why, compared with this, the Rameses were but squatters upon the homestead of antiquity. Before leaving I found a small piece of rock the Indians had dug from the pillar. The Conrey, Wallar & Deprez Furniture Co. OF SHELBYVILLE

At Less Than the Cost of Production

This firm was one of the largest manufacturers of FINE Furniture in Indiana. They had been in business in Shelbyville for many years, and had built up an enviable reputation for fine goods. Everywhere among the trade their name and fine furniture were synonymous. We did not take the entire stock, but only the parts we wanted, and so we secured the cream of this unusually fine stock, and at prices that will enable us to create a flurry in Fine Furniture.

NOTE-These lots quoted below may seem large for such fine goods, but they are not exaggerated, and we guarantee to furnish all these things in the quantities designated. However, it is always best to come to a sale like this as early as possible.

NOW FOR PRICES AND PARTICULARS

The Bedroom Suites

There are exactly twenty-two different patterns in Bedroom Suites, and from two to fifty suites of each pattern, every one of which will be retaited under Conrey, Wallar & Deprez's wholesale price. Our prices range from $9.98 to $50, and we can say without exaggeration that these are the lowest prices at which such fine furniture has been sold in Indianapolis in many years. We will not attempt to describe each pattern. We merely mention these few to show you about how they run.
